Hi Kim

Under the "December 2013" they wrote "Revision 1 – 3/18/14" to differentiate this plan from the first one.

Matt:

The CWP is still dated December 2013. The date should be changed so that this version is not confused with the version I commented on in January 2014.

I will try to look at this on my way home.

Hi Kim

Attached please find the updated contractor work plan. The plan has been reviewed and updated to be consistent with the EH&E Remediation Plan:

- The scope summary on page 8 matches the EH&E plan for materials, quantities, and classification.
- Page 9 disposal facilities match the EH&E plan.
- The contractor carried these changes through the plan to be consistent.

Please let me know if you have any questions or comments.

Matt:

I'm going through my emails to ensure that the only item outstanding here is the demolition plan.

However, it appears that I had prior comments on the CWP. Was this revised? I don't believe I have a copy if so.

Matt:

I have some problems on this CWP. There are incorrect citations throughout so it is unclear what is being proposed. There is also an incorrect classification being used (i.e., PCB bulk product waste < 50 ppm). I'm stopping there...but there may be more since I only reviewed the first part of the document.

Have you had an opportunity to review this?

Hi Kim

Attached please find copies of the Contractor Work Plan and Contractor Health and Safety Plan for the planned remediation, demolition, and disposal of Estabrook Elementary School in Lexington, Massachusetts. Please let me know if you have any questions or comments on either document. The students will be vacating the school on February 14th and the first phase of work (asbestos abatement) is schedule to start the week of February 24th.
